DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 2, 6 to 8, 11 to 13, 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manada et al (5,463,977) in view of Adams et al (5,466,934).

The Manada et al reference teaches a system for monitoring and controlling a fabrication process, note entire reference. There is a subsystem that analysis the crystallographic information of the material. The subsystem comprises a means to reflect a light off the material to a detector. The information is then feed to a control means. The data in the control means then is used to control one of the other subsystems in the fabrication process, note figures. The sole difference between the instant claims and the prior art is the plurality of subsystems. However, in the absence of unexpected results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to determine through routine experimentations the optimum, operable subsystems in the Manada et al reference in order to manufacture the work piece in conjunction with the monitoring subsystem.

The Manada et al reference further differs from the instant claims in the measurements. However, the Adams et al reference teaches measuring crystal properties, note figures and col. 2. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the Manada et al by the teachings of the Adams to measure more than thickness in order to create a more uniform crystals.

Claims 3 to 5, 9, 10 14 to 16 and 19 to 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Manada et al (5,463,977) in view of Adams et al.

The Manada et al and Adams references are relied on for the same reasons as stated, supra, and differ from the instant claims in means to monitor the work piece and the analysis. However, in the absence of unexpected results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to determine through routine experimentations the optimum, operable means to monitor and analysis in the Manada et al reference in order to increase the accuracy of the monitoring and increase the usefulness of the data.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 to 21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
